

UPON THE SQUARE

Randy Subia, WM

Hello brothers, I hope all of you are doing well and are safe. Well it looks like Most Worshipful is allowing us to go back to work. We will be having our stated meeting and hopefully an officers installation on the first Wednesday in March. I am hopeful of a good turnout and expect we will have all officers and appointed officers attend so we can get them all installed so we can begin the work for 2022. Looking forward into the future I find many positive changes ahead of us that I know as a Lodge we will rise to meet those challenges. With Master elect Torry Thompson sitting in the East and a solid core of officers, I know that the lodge is in good hands.

Until we meet again, I wish all brothers and their families to be safe

Brethren, I am excited about our upcoming stated meeting this Wednesday the 2nd. Travis Duhn will be ready to prove his first so we can start planning for a second degree.

ON THE LEVEL

Gregg Moore, SW

My Brethren, I sincerely hope you are all doing great and feeling well. I am looking forward to our meeting and Installation this coming meeting. We will not be having dinner prior to the meeting in March, but hopefully we will come April. I hope you all have had a great couple of months to kick off 2022. As always, I like to send out a positive message every month that hopefully helps set you up everyday with something good to read.

Quote for the month...

SEEK AND YE SHALL FIND

The making of a Freemason consists of a continuing course of education, of training, and of character forming. While it may be accepted that it is an innermost desire, followed by obligations that makes one a member of the Craft, yet in a truer form and better sense, a man is never a Freemason until he truthfully and loyally lives up to his obligations. And he cannot do that until he understands them, and eventually knows their scope and real meaning.

Freemasonry can very well be divided into many phases. Its landmarks, its customs, its constitution and its laws, just to mention a few, if studied and mastered, can provide a more interesting course for the Master Mason seeking Masonic knowledge. Its historical background can provide an interesting program of investigation to the Member attracted to a desire for research.

One peculiarity about Freemasonry is that it will stand investigation. The deeper the research, the more extensive the knowledge of its hidden art and mysteries, the more highly it is appreciated. A member of the Craft who merely takes his degrees in a listless, careless sort of manner, and then remains as just a spectator at Lodge meetings, may hold to the opinion that Freemasonry differs little from other societies. To the contrary, the Master Mason who delves deeply into Masonic literature takes a lively interest in every part of the Ritualistic and Lodge Work, and learns the origin, meaning and moral bearing of its symbols, cannot possibly fall into such an error. To him Freemasonry has a refining and elevating influence not to be found in the ordinary run of organizations.

The philosophies of Freemasonry, when discovered and then accepted and practiced, provide that simple but profound solution to the problems of human relationships. May it be accepted that Freemasonry is a way of living to the Master Mason who is interested enough to appraise and value the wealth that is his, and his alone, by virtue of his Masonic Membership.

The best informed Master Mason is the Master Mason who reads and studies. Consequently, if we want Freemasonry to be of practical usefulness and cultural attainment, we, as Freemasons, must not neglect our Masonic reading, our Masonic studying and our research for more Masonic Light.
